

1. Do you identify more with quiet, shy Megan or confident, assertive Jen? As a child, did you befriend someone who was the opposite of yourself? Describe that friend.
2. Trina is a woman of faith, yet she often worries to excess about her daughter Megan. Can you relate to this? How are we to handle anxiousness about the safety of the people we love?
3. Before Jen's abduction Megan was beginning to realize how different she and Jen were. Do you think these two girls would have stayed best friends had they the chance to grow up together?
4. The canyon near Megan's house was her "window to the world," giving her a view of how things really are in this beautiful, yet broken, world we live in. How do you think Megan felt when the canyon became a golf course? What descriptive words come to mind? Have you ever felt this way?
5. Megan and Adele, though years apart in age, develop a deep friendship from the get-go. Discuss reasons why.
6. Does Megan's close, but unromantic friendship with Charlie surprise you? Would she and Charlie been friends had Jen not disappeared?
7. Megan goes to great lengths to protect herself from hurt. What do people like Megan give up to hedge themselves in this way?
8. Discuss the differences between Megan and her sister, Michelle. How many of these differences do you feel are due to personality? How many are due to experience?
9. If you were Megan, would you have agreed to meet Jen alone without contacting the police? Would you have sought advice beforehand?
10. Have you ever returned to a childhood home, like Jen did, after years of being away? What was it like? What are some words that describe what a childhood home is like?
11. In what ways do you see that God has used your past to shape you?
12. What kind of future do you see for Megan and David? Where do you think they will be ten years from the last page in the book? Describe their future lives.
13. How do you think Megan's and Jen's relationship will develop following the reunion? Will they be close friends again?
